Present Budget Stands

No New Taxes Until Next April

By TOM GREEN
Colonist Ottawa Correspondent
OTTAWA, Sept. 1. (AP)—The government has decided no new budget will be brought down at the autumn session of parliament beginning Oct. 9 and expected to wind up about Dec. 15.

The present tax rates under the budget presented last April will stand until the end of the fiscal year next March 31. The next budget consequently will not be brought down in parliament by Finance Minister D. C. Abbott until some time after the 1952 session convenes, probably in February. A whopping surplus has been piling up and stood at $409,000,000 at July 31, although this will be decreased as the current fiscal year progresses by financing defense preparations and other expenditures.

PENSIONS BILL

The only tax legislation to be brought forward at the autumn session will be the bill to grant old-age pensions for persons 70 years and over without a means test, starting January 1. The government, it is indicated, has no intention of scrapping its original plan to levy a special tax to help finance the universal pension program.

Details of financing old-age pensions have not yet been completed.

SOCIAL SECURITY TAX

A social security tax of from 1 to 2 per cent, with an exemption level of $750 for single and $1,500 for married persons has been suggested, however, to take care of the annual payments approximating $500,000,000.

Rinfret Urges Closer Links

MANILA, Sept. 1 (AP)—Closer relations between Canada and the Philippines because of their mutual interest in the Pacific was urged today by Chief Justice Rinfret of Canada. He flew here after attending a meeting of jurists from the British Commonwealth at Sydney, Australia. He made his comments to reporters.

Prime Minister May Hint On Cost-of-Living Plans

OTTAWA, Sept. 2 (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent may give the people of Canada a hint this week of what the government plans to do about the cost of living.

He goes on the air Tuesday night as the CBC resumes its weekly free-time political broadcasts and he has chosen as his subject "The Cost of Living in Canada."

By coincidence, the official cost-of-living index will be issued by the bureau of statistics early in the week and it will show where prices stood at Aug. 1.

Acheson Signs Treaty

Path Believed Cleared For Big German Units

PARIS, Sept. 1 (INS) (Exclusive).—High authoritative sources said tonight France is ready to make a major concession to its historic rival in past wars and agree to admit German divisions to the proposed European army.

BULLETINS

Early Toll

By International News Service
The Labor Day week-end holiday death toll from drownings, highway accidents and miscellaneous mishaps jumped over the 100 - total at midnight Saturday.

Report Strafing

MUNSAN, Sept. 2 (Sunday) (AP)—Three American soldiers said an unidentified warplane early today strafed twice along the banks of the Imjin, north of Munsan near this truce camp. A fifth air force headquarters officer said there was no confirmation of the strafing.

Defense Treaty Signed

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 1 (INS).—The United States, Australia and New Zealand today signed a mutual defense pact aimed at preserving peace in the Pacific.

Secretary of State Dean Acheson, affixing his signature after Ambassador Percy Spender signed for Australia and Sir Carl Berendsen for New Zealand, said: "This pact is in complete conformity with the aims and principles of the charter of the United Nations."

"Together with the United States-Philippines mutual defense treaty and the post treaty arrangements between the United States and Japan, we hope to make it the basis for peace in the Pacific."

John Foster Dulles, and United States senators John J. Sparkman and Alexander Wiley also signed the historic document for the United States.

Nineteen guns boomed from adjacent fortifications along the ocean cliffs of historic Presidio Heights as the representatives of the three Pacific areas added another link to a security chain similar to that of the North Atlantic Pact in Europe.

Ambassador Spender of Australia, stressing that the treaty is directed against no nation, drew attention to the "disharmony" existing in the world and said vigilance is constantly necessary.

"We labor for peace," he said, "and because we labor for peace we must be prepared to meet aggression no matter where it may come or wherever it may strike. There is no other way."

Signing of Peace Treaty Predicted Within Days

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1 (AP).—The United States made the "definite prediction" tonight that, regardless of Soviet delaying efforts, the new Japanese peace treaty will be signed "in a matter of days."

Most of the delegates from 51 nations gathered at San Francisco "are in no mood to brook obstructionism," the State Department said in a report on treaty negotiations. It sharply criticized Russian opposition tactics.

At the same time, diplomatic authorities disclosed that the South Korean Republic is sending three representatives to the treaty signing conference in a move considered certain to result in a dispute with Russian, Polish and Czechoslovakian delegations. As the republic came into being after V.J. Day, Korea was not included with Japan's foes in the nations invited to the conference.

The State Department's criticism of Russia was in a background roundup of developments leading up to the conference.

There may be a few among the delegates present who have been sent to block the treaty but who, in the end, will be able only to denounce the result, the department said.

Gromyko Arrives for Talks

Grim-faced Andrei Gromyko, head of the 39-man Russian delegation to the Japanese peace conference starting in San Francisco soon, steps from train on arrival in the conference city yesterday. He uttered two words: "No comment," and was whisked in a limousine to the Hillsborough mansion rented by the Russians for duration of the talks. (AP Wirephoto.)

Allies, Reds Trade Blasts

TOKYO, Sept. 2 (Sunday) (AP).—The Allies and the Communists today traded tough messages which sounded as if they were challenging each other to break off the Korean armistice talks, already suspended.

The first, broadcast was fired by Vice-Admiral C. Turner Joy, chief of the United Nations command delegation.

He denied Red charges that an Allied plane had dropped flares Wednesday over Kaesong, neutralized site of the truce talks, and that Allied troops fought into the neutral zone Thursday. Then he added: "You are evidently using your military occupation of the neutral zone to create conditions which tend to prevent resumption of the armistice talks."

While this charge echoed across Korea, where armies fought while the truce talks idled, the Communists came up with a new blast.

They challenged the United Nations to call off the talks entirely or stop "carrying out provocations" around Kaesong.

The big debate was waged unrelentingly by letter and radio while the truce talks, called off by the Reds Aug. 23, marked time.

The Reds charged that an Allied plane bombed the Kaesong neutral zone early Saturday. Pyongyang radio broadcast a statement by the Red high command that a bomb barely missed the home of North Korean Lt. Gen. Nam Il, chief of the Communist truce delegation.

In a defense of American plans to keep forces in Japan through a separate treaty, the State Department declared that "there can be no doubt that Japan is a prime target" of Soviet expansion.

U.S. EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea, Sept. 2 (Sunday) (AP).—Allied soldiers today smashed back two savage Communist counterattacks on the fierce eastern Korean front amid indications the Reds soon may unleash a major drive.

After hurling back the Reds, United Nations forces then seized two of the hills of "Bloody Ridge" where they had been stalled for two days of fierce resistance. The action was north of Yangju.

The Communists threw in heavy artillery fire but Allied guns laid down a great barrage along the wild and mountainous battlefield. One field artillery battalion said it set a record by pouring 12,083 rounds into enemy positions Saturday.

Fishing Boat Keels Over; Fear for 35

Many Trapped in Cabin, Nine Bodies Recovered

MONTAUK, N.Y., Sept. 1 (AP)—A party-fishing boat, caught with a dead engine in a boiling rip tide, keeled over in the stormy Atlantic today with a possible death toll of 35.

The 45-foot Pelican, with 51 holiday weekenders on board, capsized about half a mile off shore when one giant wave sent her plunging into a second.

Tonight there were only 15 known survivors. The bodies of nine victims have been recovered. Frequent rain squalls and a thick haze interfered with the Coast Guard's search for survivors.

All available Coast Guard boats searched through the night under the glare of searchlights. Coast Guardsmen feared many lost their lives when they were trapped below deck, where they had gone for shelter from the equally weather.

WARNINGS OUT
The Pelican, one of many charter boats at this popular fishing ground, set out this morning from a fishing club despite small craft warnings.

Skipper of Rescue Craft Tells Story of Disaster

MONTAUK, N.Y., Sept. 1 (AP).—A boat fishing near the ill-fated Pelican, which overturned near here with a loss of possibly 35 lives, picked up five men and one woman and brought them ashore.

The Betty Anne's skipper, H. Rogers Bishop, told this story: "There was a heavy following sea. We were about 200 feet ahead of the Pelican. When she was about half a mile from shore, one wave raised her stern so high that her nose dipped deep into the next swell."

"She turned over. I saw at least 25 persons in the water and another 25 clinging to the keel. "I raced back and we threw overboard every preserver and line we had. We picked up five men and one woman. She was in bad shape. Enough other boats were around by that time so that we could take off."

John Griffin, a survivor, said: "We were out on the Fishie grounds. We weren't catching anything, so we asked the captain to move. He started the boat but only one engine would start. "At one point a wave hit the boat and it went up by the bow at almost a 45-degree angle. I reached for a life-jacket, and there was some kidding about needing them. But I kept mine, anyway. About half an hour later, a second wave hit the boat, and was followed by another big wave. "The boat rolled completely over, and I went over the side."

Gift From Mulliner

Stall Wins Support Of Early Opponent

Victoria's 20th century Samaritan—Mrs. Barbara Green—who has been doing a lot of giving lately, herself received a present yesterday—from one of the chief early opponents of the surplus food stall scheme.

Ald. Frank Mulliner, who originally objected to the idea on the grounds that it would be abused, dropped in yesterday to pay his regards and to hand Mrs. Green a "lovely box of candy."

"I can't think of anyone who is more deserving," said Ald. Mulliner gallantly.

Meanwhile, the number of "customers" and the number of supporters has been increasing each week.

LETTERS OF THANKS
Mrs. Green has received many letters of thanks from needy persons who have been helped over their difficulties by the surplus food stall.

One writer says, "God bless you and all your workers. . . and may it be started in other cities." Another thanks Mrs. Green for her "great kindness" and calls it a "wonderful inspiration."

Members of the Royal Air-aram and Boy Scouts and Girl Guides helped yesterday with the deliveries and sorting.

With cash donated, Mrs. Green purchased $10 worth of eggs, $3 worth of cabbage and three badly-needed knives for slicing vegetables.

VOLUNTEERS VALUABLE
Mrs. Green said she is particularly thankful to the volunteer workers who have given so much of their time to put over the scheme.

And the idea is catching. A woman in Vancouver has enquired into the organization of the food stall and another from Texas visited the stall yesterday with a carton of jam. The American visitor wanted to know all about it, too.

Queen Greets Sponsor

Enjoying his brief visit to the P.N.E. at Vancouver is Donald Anderson, president of the Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce. Reason for his visit is Miss P.N.E., Inez McLeod of Victoria, who was sponsored by the Junior Chamber. He reports that the pretty winner is being treated royally and having a wonderful time. ## Indians Saw Plane Vanish

TIMMINS, Ont., Sept. 1 (CP).—Indians on James Bay reported today they saw a plane appear to stall and then vanish in mists over the bay last Sunday, the day that hockey player Bill Barilko and Dr. Henry Hudson of Timmins disappeared.

The Indians offered to lead a search party to the spot where they last saw the plane.

Meanwhile, extra planes were dispatched to investigate reports of smoke seen Monday at a spot 12 miles west of the flight line supposedly taken by the pair.

R.C.A.F. planes have covered 33,000 miles of Northern Ontario's lake-dotted country in the search.

Totem Pole Search Ends For Canadian Scottish

The search for a Vancouver Island totem pole has ended for members of "E" Company of the Canadian Scottish Regiment (Princess Mary's).

Several days ago an officer of the unit wrote The Daily Colonist asking about the possibility of obtaining a small totem pole. Yesterday L. McAlpine, of the Malahat Lookout, called to say he had "just what those fellows are looking for." The totem he has offered stands about four feet high and is a genuine, Vancouver Island, hand-carved pole.

During the Second World War the Canadian Scottish carried a totem pole which was set up in

Mr. Holland's Signal Victory

THE RETURN to office of the National Party in yesterday's general election in New Zealand is a signal victory for Prime Minister Holland's policy for control of communism through the suppression of Communist domination of industrial unions. The election was called long before the government's term was up as a test of the country's reaction to Mr. Holland's drastic handling of this year's maritime strike, by means of which the Communist labor leaders sought to undermine the Dominion's whole economy. The re-election of the Nationalists with a majority double that which they previously enjoyed is a complete vindication of Mr. Holland and his emergency regulations, and the clearest possible indication that the majority of New Zealanders have lost patience with Communist union leaders and their disruptive tactics.

In consulting the country on this specific issue after so short a time in office, Mr. Holland took the politically serious risk of having his party thrown out for some other reason. The Labor party headed by former Prime Minister Walter Nash was quick to seize the opportunity thus dropped in its lap. While making a strong appeal to labor on the score that the government's emergency regulations were a denial of the right of unions to choose their own leaders, the Labor party adroitly concentrated its campaign on the cost of living.

This put the Nationalists at a distinct disadvantage, because a marked increase in prices had occurred soon after the election was called, mainly due to the government's action in breaking up the policy of food and other subsidies which the former Labor government had applied. The Nationalists did that as a means of restoring the tangled economy of the country to a foundation of reality, with the full knowledge that the inevitable result would be higher retail prices.

Thus the re-election and improved standing of Mr. Holland's government is plain proof that the level-headed New Zealanders are desirous not only of frustrating the aims of the Communists even at some loss of freedom, but also of ridding the country of impractical socialistic props.

Beloved Figure Passes

NELLIE LETITIA McCLEUNG, one of Canada's beloved authors and crusaders for a better world, died at the family home at Lantern Lane yesterday after a prolonged illness. Mrs. R. W. McCleung, as she was known in private life, was 77 years of age. From her early success in authorship with "Sowing Seeds in Danny," to her last work, "The Stream Runs Fast," an autobiography, Nellie McCleung captured and held the attention of the young people of Canada and an ever-growing volume of readers. Her first work ran into seventeen editions, and made Mrs. McCleung a nationally-known figure at the time it was written.

Highlights in a career that began as a school teacher on the Prairies, went on to legislative halls in Alberta, included lecture tours in Canada, the United States and Great Britain, and made her a member of the Canadian delegation to the former League of Nations at Geneva, scarcely tell the story of this kindly, gentle soul whose whole life was a shining example of all that is best in our Canadian way of life.

The late Nellie McCleung was an inveterate crusader for the Golden Rule, women's rights, temperance and better recognition of the part played by the Prairie homesteader and his family. She was the first woman member of any legislature or parliament in Canada; strove for years on behalf of women's suffrage and led to see that become almost universal. She served for a time as a director on the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation when national radio control was in its infancy.

Her most distinguishing feature was, perhaps, her innate belief in the dignity of man and the right of every individual to an equal chance in life; and into this she poured the boundless enthusiasm, crusading zeal and the charm of a simple and generous nature for a long and busy life. To Mr. R. W. McCleung and members of the family now will go the profound sympathy of this, her adopted home.

Drivers' Freedom Ends Too

THE APPEARANCE during the last few days of the new pattern school sign at many points throughout the city is a reminder to motorists that their summertime freedom from restriction at school crossings comes to an end on Tuesday morning. The onus is on drivers to take care at all times, but they should be especially vigilant at the beginning of a new school year, when pupils fresh from holidays may have forgotten temporarily what they had been taught about traffic behavior.

Motorists, too, particularly those returning after this week-end from absences from the city, may need a little time to accustom themselves to the stop-when-occupied system of control at school crossings now being put into general effect for the first time in the city itself, though not in the adjoining municipalities. There is nothing complex or confusing about the system, however. The large and conspicuous signs speak for themselves. If crossings are being used by pedestrians, drivers must bring their vehicles to a full stop, not proceed at slow speed as they have been allowed to do hitherto. It is just a matter of watching for the signs and doing exactly what they instruct.

The change from 15 m.p.h. school zones in the city should be welcomed by motorists, for it brings to an end the often pointless slowing and congestion of traffic caused by restricting vehicles to half-speed for long distances during hours when school children are safe in classrooms. Victoria has given a practical lead in this respect, and the other municipalities will have a chance to study the results. In time perhaps they may see their way to adopt the same plan, so that the desirable objective of a uniform system for the whole area may be attained.

Readers' Forum

Letters to the editor on any topic of general interest are welcome if they are brief, accurate and fair. No letter will be inserted in whole, or in part, except after the proper signature and address of the writer. Unsolicited correspondence cannot be returned.

HOSPITAL INSURANCE

Sir,—The people of this province are being subjected to serious inconvenience and uncertainty with regard to the payments of the hospital insurance premiums. We are not only subject to threats, but after payments are made it is impossible to get an intelligent receipt. Surely, with the number of persons drawing salaries for doing practically nothing, it should be in order to enact some legislation to protect the public. Are these receipts, I have one now before me, subject to a shortage of ink, or are they intended to make it difficult for the insured should hospital care be found necessary?

With the tremendous debt already incurred by our government, it would appear that to scrap the whole sorry mess would be an economic victory for all concerned.

A. CAROLYN BAYFIELD.

2585 Lansdowne Road, Victoria, B.C.

QUESTIONS POLICY

Sir,—I am deeply concerned about the financial status of this province, as revealed in a Colonist editorial of August 17.

There is admittedly a bank overdraft of $26,000,000, to be taken care of by a $35,000,000 loan recently negotiated in New York by Finance Minister Anscomb. It would relieve the public mind if Mr. Anscomb would make a public statement on this question.

It is pertinent to ask does the finance minister agree to disagree with the financial policy of the Coalition Government? Is he opposed to the present Hospital Insurance Act, and to the program of social services adopted by this government?

Has Mr. Anscomb decided to stay with the ship until a general election is called, regardless of all considerations?

Would it be an over-statement to suggest that the minister of finance is in complete disagreement with coalition Liberals in regard to the present social services program, and which is largely responsible for this large bank overdraft? Has Mr. Anscomb decided that affairs in the state of Denmark are such that the people of British Columbia cannot be saved by any warnings that he might give, and that for his part, he will let adverse winds blow "till they crack their cheeks"? The fiercer the gale the greater the financial catastrophe, the sooner the government and people of British Columbia will wake up and come to their senses, and learn by proof, in some wild hour, how great a price must be paid for unbridled social services in government spending? Such action, if it is deliberate, would be a negation of responsible leadership. It is time to know the facts, now, regardless of political consequences.

HARRY LANGLEY.

1010 Foul Bay Road, Victoria, B.C.

TAXING MUNICIPALITY

Sir,—The question as to whether or not Esquimalt municipality should have to pay the 10 per cent sales tax on cement pipe made in their own yards is indeed interesting. A 10 per cent sales tax is paid on cement, sand, gravel, iron wire, etc., used in the making of these pipes and it does seem to me that to insist on 10 per cent on the finished article, when not for sale, is unfair, and not in line with what is intended in levying the sales tax. The federal sales tax is indirect and is added to the invoice by the manufacturer when the goods are sold; therefore it should not be applied unless the goods change hands. Carried to its extreme absurdity if it were in order to charge the 10 per cent to Esquimalt it could also be applied on many other things including road signs, castings, office desks, etc., that would or could be made by municipalities, businesses, or private parties for their own use. If the federal government could charge 10 per cent, the provincial government could then step in and charge three per cent on the whole amount in addition. One wonders what is behind it all.

Iron Brains

WASHINGTON, D.C.—Science is coming closer to its 300-year-old goal of "thinking machines" that can take over where human minds falter.

Already there are electronic "giant brains" that can scan a microfilm library of 120,000 entries a minute, make out a factory's payroll or a city's telephone bills automatically, rattle out mathematical tables on electric typewriters, or chew through equations that would take a human calculator more than a lifetime to solve.

In a London museum this summer, the National Geographic Society says, the great grandfather of these scientific prodigies was put on exhibition. A mechanical calculator built by French mathematician Blaise Pascal in 1641, it employed principles of addition, subtraction and simple multiplication that are still in use in desktop adding machines.

Man first counted with his fingers. From his two hands came the decimal system of numbers with the magic base of 10. Oddly enough, the most recent electronic computers use a completely different system, "binary" numbers with a base of two and only two digits, 0 and 1. (In the binary world, two becomes 10, three is 11, four is 100. The date 1951 would be written 1111001111.)

Long before the Christian era opened, the curious calculating instrument called the abacus had been invented. It was used in ancient Egypt, Greece and Rome, much as it is used today in India, China, Japan, Russia, and in Chinese business places in the United States.

A system of numbering rods was invented in 1617 by the Scotsman John Napier. Napier's rods, quickly dubbed them "Napier's bones," but they constituted the earliest mechanical means of multiplication. They were used in many forms during the 17th century.

It was not until the early 1800's that the idea of a true "analytical engine" was proposed by Charles Babbage, professor of mathematics at Cambridge University. His machine was so complex that artisans could not make sufficiently accurate parts for it. Babbage died before it was finished. Only today, in elephant-sized electronic sequence calculators that hum, click and blink their myriad lights in mysterious patterns are his ideas reaching fulfillment.

Today's "brain" machines—Eniac, Binar, Edvac, Sear, Univac, Zephyr, and Mark I, II, III and IV—are much more than overgrown abacuses. With electronic brain cells, copper wire nerves and metallic memories, they can work through masses of figures and formulas like a ship plowing through the Sargasso Sea.

They make decisions, choose between different courses of action, determine instructions by themselves and generally "remember". Thus many scientists say such computers show attributes of "thinking".

Yet actually they are motions. If a machine were to be built simulating all the nerve connections of the human brain, it has been estimated that it would need a skyscraper to house it, the power of Niagara Falls to run it, and all of Niagara's water to keep it cool.

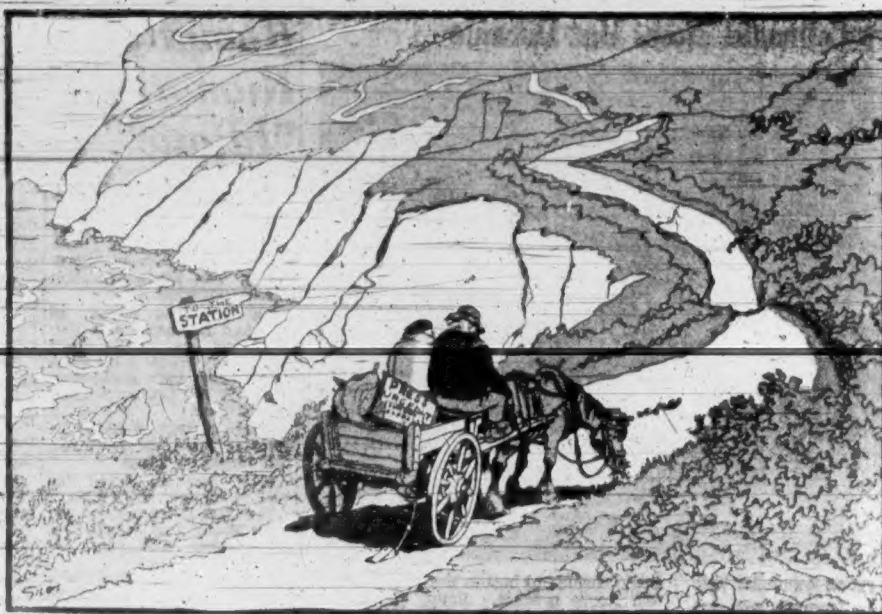

Some day such a "brain" may be built, far faster and more accurate than any human mind. With techniques now known, mathematicians predict, the calculating machine will eventually play perfect chess, orchestrate a melody, forecast weather, type letters directly from dictation, or even beat the stock market.

Post Office Axe

INCREASINGLY irritated by long delays in mail deliveries and what looks like general confusion, Canadians might well wonder why the force of that unique Ottawa economy axe fell with such gusto on our post office.

Certain reforms might have been expected after the deft removal of the word "Royal" from our justly famous, and historically efficient postal service, but the average citizen has had a royal pushing around in the process. What is wrong? It seems to call for a far more elaborate explanation than any hitherto supplied.

Jottings From Britain

By H. J. J. SARGENT

North American Newspaper Alliance

LONDON—The 19 men and women who make up the membership of the Royal Commission, appointed to examine the question of marriage and divorce in England and Scotland will gather evidence in the homes of the country. Many official bodies, representing the church, the medical profession, the interests of women and children, the law and even ex-prisoners, will give evidence.

The commission will try to establish some kind of order in the many problems of divorce laws, family money, property rights and other complications of unhappy marriage, but when all these expert witnesses have been heard by the commission, the views of ordinary people will be sought to balance the judgment.

Thomas Young, an advocate of Edinburgh, a member of the commission, spoke about the difference between English and Scottish divorce laws. He said: "This aspect should be considered carefully. A lot depends on which side of the border you are when it comes to getting a divorce. For example, there is no alimony in Scotland. A divorced woman, admittedly, has the legal status of a widow, and is entitled to her share of her husband's estate, but that is not much use to her if he has no estate."

Within the next few days the ration of meat in Great Britain will go up six cents to 28 cents a week, and nearly all of it will be British beef. Mutton and lamb will make up the remainder. There will be almost no pork.

Butchers, who a month ago were complaining about not being able to cut the tiny 12-cent ration are wondering if they can sell everyone one 26 cents' worth a week. Cash shortages among their customers have replaced the worry of cutting little pieces to make their supplies go round.

It is reported from some towns that people are not taking their full ration, and butchers think that they may have supplies left on their hands. This pessimism is not shared by the food ministry, and plans are being made to raise the ration to 28 cents a week, and if the present heavy supply of cattle from home farms continues, the ration may even go beyond 28 cents for a time, for the meat delivered has to be distributed. It cannot be stored very long.

Farmers are showing a great desire to market any cattle which can be classed as fat, and they are doing their best to supply the market while the present prices prevail. One reason for this is that winter food for livestock is likely to be short.

If there is anything but the mildest of seasons, few farmers will be able to maintain milk output and fatten beasts. Meanwhile, the food ministry is storing all imported meat, and is believed to have about 60,000 tons in hand, with the prospect of increasing supplies from Commonwealth countries.

The British wool-textile industry, which has been booming of late, is going through a recession, and comparatively little business is coming forward at the moment, until the confidence of buyers is restored after the substantial fall in wool prices in recent months. Woolen goods have not yet reflected the recent highest prices commanded by wool, and the chances are that they never will, since manufacturers will endeavor to blend cheaper and cheaper purchases of raw material to enable them to soften the impact of dear wool on prices paid by the public.

Even so, there is undoubted resistance on the part of the public to the prices which are asked, and wool importers and manufacturers, realizing this, are correspondingly cautious in their purchases. Never since the war has Britain carried less wool stocks than at present, and the industry is making a very sober approach to the new wool marketing season, which opens in Australia next week. Bradford, centre of the British wool industry, hopes that the fantastic wool prices of early this year, for which Britain was not responsible, have gone, never to return.

The Packsack

OF GREGORY CLARK

While Visiting Britain

ONE of the greatest charms of the Old Country is in its children! In no country I have ever been in are the small children so consistently attractive that you hardly ever see one, you are not tempted to grab up and seat on your knee. It can't be a physiological reason—that accounts for this beauty, because you will everywhere see the weirdest looking parents with perfectly ravishing youngsters two to four or five years old. The parents may both be so ugly as to be almost misshapen, with beaks for noses, or bulbs; or with that look of being either chilled or parboiled, which is fairly common in the Old Country; but their children are possessed of a bewitching beauty.

Could it be the climate? One thing is certain: the Old Country people appreciate the beauty and charm of their children; for in no country in the world are such arrangements made for the comfort, security and happiness of children. London's great parks are, of course, a legend of social planning. How a great and massed city could expand while resisting every temptation to use these priceless central square-miles of park should be a lesson to the whole world. And this was all planned many long years ago. Wherever you go in London there are small parks and squares of garden where the children are at play.

It is not only in London but in practically every Old Country community from city to village that the parks abound. Besides the parks, no country has more infant amusements, traveling caravans of circuses and shows, tent shows, barrows of ice cream, donkey rides. The British make a cult of childhood. And for my money, it is little wonder.

Fun, Fact and Fiction

Number of wrong guesses chalked up to Finance Minister Abbott makes it clear that he can always leave politics to become a weather forecaster, if so minded.

What helps to maintain the Oriental reputation for mystery is stuff like China telling Tokyo that signing a peace treaty means war.

Minister: "If there is anyone in the congregation who likes sin, let him stand."

Brother Sam stood up to the astonishment of all.

Minister: "What's this, Brother Sam, you like sin?"

Brother Sam: "Pardon me, sir, I thought you said gin."

Cook: "Did you hear them say anything about the cook?"

New Maid: "No, but I noticed them praying before they started eating."

The one consolation for the harassed husband who has to rat out is that he has an opportunity to give an order.

About a Truman candidature and alternatives thereto in next year's Democratic convention, a U.S. writer in sporting mood says: "You can't start a race with one man." He seems to have overlooked Adam.

WASTE
Handshaking wastes time that should be spent on "peace production," according to an official of the East German Information Ministry.

The official, writing in the Communist literary weekly, World Stage, said he had calculated that East Germans spent 2,200,000,000 seconds daily in handshakes.

That came to 37,000 working days "lost to the German democratic republic's peace production."

—Soviet Daily Press Service.

By G. E. MORTIMORE

SEPTEMBER, 1864, came in with a rush of news. Sherman had taken Atlanta, and the Union armies were marching through Georgia. The Daily British Colonist produced an extra about the size of a handkerchief to tell the people so.

The news reached Victoria in papers brought by the ship Eliza Anderson. "New York, Sept. 3—Great rejoicing; Atlanta is ours. While the rebel armies were operating in Sherman's rear, his movements were being successfully carried out. At eleven o'clock yesterday forenoon he entered the city."

This capture secures Georgia and renders the condition of the rebels more desperate than ever. It was a masterly piece of strategy, for which Sherman is so famed."

At home, gold fever was raging as hundreds of fortune hunters crowded the trail to Sooke and the Leech River. A correspondent of The Colonist made some whimsical chatter about "a disease which baffles the skill of the most scientific men, and the cure for which is never seen on the physician's prescription."

"It has swept away a few of our men lately—not into the grave, but into a gulch, from which they hope to emerge with stories on the counterpane. It is called the 'Gold Fever,' for which Mother Earth holds the only cure."

From Metlakahla, a station up the mainland coast, came word of a battle at sea. The captain of the sloop Random, who had been selling liquor to the Indians, opened fire on a party of police and Indian assistants who came aboard to arrest him. One man was killed, three wounded.

Five Indians who had left Nanaimo for Victoria in a canoe with $250 to do some shopping had not been heard from for 10 days, and there was talk that they had been robbed and murdered.

The Colonist was raising a dust about alleged injustices in awarding liquor licenses. And there was still space in this newspaper for scornful comment about its rivals.

"Our unfortunate evening contemporary is getting rather excited—so much so that it is laying itself wide open, in its peculiar, uneducated way, to legal punishment. We are not disposed, however, to crush it—its insignificance, like that of the worm, is its surest protection, and its silly libels are therefore safe utterances."

"For its information, however, we would state that The Colonist has as much to do with the Vancouver Times as it has with the Evening Express, the Prices Current, the Government Gazette, or any of the periodicals which are issued from its office. So far as the Express's dread of 'monopoly' is concerned, it may be well founded; but it comes in the ordinary way of business. If the public, the government or newspaper proprietors bring their work to our office, it is only because we are . . . able to do it cheaper and better."

Well-Known Canadian Writer Nellie McClung Dies in Victoria

Mrs. Nellie McClung, 77, widely known Canadian writer and for years a fighter for temperance and women's rights, died Saturday afternoon at her Gordon Head home, Lantern Lane, after an illness of many months.

Mrs. McClung, in the world of Canadian letters, was best known for her "Sowing Seeds in Danny," published many years ago, which has had such continuous sale that it is now in its 17th edition.

Mrs. McClung was born at Chatsworth, Ont., Oct. 20, 1873. Her parents moved west to Manitoba when she was seven and she attended public schools there and then collegiate and normal school in Winnipeg. For five years she taught in "little schoolhouses" in the prairie backwoods. It was during those years she resolved to fight for women and children, so that women would have political freedom and children on prairie farms a better chance in life.

SUFFRAGE CAMPAIGN

She campaigned for women's suffrage at the close of the First World War, lecturing for almost two years. Once she made a tour for the United States Association of Women's Suffrage and lectured in 28 states. In 1921 she went to England and lectured for the Women's Guild of Empire. Often, as a leader in the Methodist Church, she lectured for temperance and always fought for prohibition.

The best way, she decided, of doing her part in public affairs was to sit in the legislature of Alberta, where she was living. She was elected to an Edmonton seat in 1921, one of the first women to sit in any provincial legislature in Canada. She held her seat for five years.

Continuing her fight for women's rights, she determined that women should sit in the Canadian Senate. She lived to see two Senators Iva Falis and Cairine Wilson—enter the Red Chamber. In 1938, at the entrance to the Senate Chamber in Ottawa, Prime Minister Mackenzie King invited a plaque with the names of five women who had fought for women's rights. Among the names is that of Nellie Letitia McClung.

APPOINTED TO BOARD

She was an enthusiastic Liberal all her life, and a friend and supporter of Prime Minister King. He appointed her the first woman on the board of governors of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, a position she held from 1936 to 1942.

Several times she represented Canada abroad. In 1925 she was one of 12 Canadian delegates to the Ecumenical Conference of Methodist Churches in London and in 1938 she was a Canadian delegate to the League of Nations in Geneva.

Her books, an important part of Canadiana, make an imposing list: "Sowing Seeds in Danny," "Second Chance," "Purple Springs," "Painted Fires," "Be Good to Yourself," "Flowers for the Living," "All We Like Sheep," "Clearing in the West," "Leaves from Lantern Lane," "More Leaves from Lantern Lane," and her autobiography, "The Stream Runs Fast."

REVIEWED LIFE

As she sized up her life in her autobiography, Nellie McClung wrote: "I have been accused, attacked and maligned. Once I was burned in effigy. I have been caricatured, usually as a mosquito or other disagreeable insect, under the caption 'Calamity Nell.' I have engaged in hot controversies, been threatened with violence and with libel suits, but on the other side of the ledger I have been stoutly defended by many good friends. I have never indulged in hating people and am glad to remember that I could attack opinions without feeling any bitterness toward the people who held them."

When her husband retired, the McClung family moved to Gordon Head. Mrs. McClung kept up her writing and for a hobby grew prize-winning prize-winning

In September of 1946, Mr. and

Mrs. McClung celebrated their golden wedding.

Mrs. McClung is survived by her husband, R. W. McClung, three sons, Mark in Ottawa, Horace in Victoria, Paul in Vancouver; one daughter, Mrs. Hugh Atkinson (Florence) of Vancouver; and nine grandchildren. A fourth son, J. W. McClung, R.C., Edmonton, predeceased her.

Funeral arrangements will be announced later. McCall Brothers Funeral Home is handling arrangements.

As expected Soviet blast against western power policy in the Middle East failed to develop at Flushing Meadow, N.Y., yesterday, and the United Nations Security Council formally called on Egypt to remove all restrictions against Israeli shipping through the Suez Canal.

Approval was given a resolution sponsored jointly by the British and French nations and the United States, calling for going to and from Israel through the Red-Sea waterway. Russia abstained from voting and from objecting.

Action and Reaction

Quoted in a Seoul Korea dispatch, Major General Henry J. Hodges, U.N. delegate to a Korean cease-fire sub-committee, declares he did not put his arm around a Red delegate while posing for Allied photographers in Kaesong. Said he: "Any report to that effect in a news dispatch had no indicated was erroneous."

Actress Rita Hayworth has filed suit in Reno, Nev., for divorce against Prince Aly Khan, charging the Moslem prince with "extreme mental cruelty." The suit asked custody of the couple's 20-month-old daughter, Yasmin, and asked the court to fix the sum to be paid by the father for the child's support.

In New York, ice-skating queen Sonia Henie has snatched rumors that she is planning to retire. She said she had back on the ice again this coming season, with a show in which she has already invested more than $500,000.

Walter Wood, wealthy scientist of Far Hills, N.J., said in Juneau, Alaska, yesterday that he had scant hope that his wife and daughter, missing in a small plane since July 27 with a veteran northern pilot, would be found alive. He feared no trace would be found of the aircraft, lost in the Yakutat area.

Into Yuma, Ariz., came six adults and 13 children yesterday after being marooned by floods for four days in the Alca Caliente area to the east. The group was foodless for two of the four days.

Labor Negotiations

An agreement, expected to be signed early next week in Vancouver, will set wages and working conditions for thousands of workers who will build the town and smelters at Kitimat, the northern site of the Aluminum Company of Canada's gigantic development.

In Washington, negotiations between union leaders and three big copper companies were broken off last night, putting a damper on prospects for quick settlement of the critical U.S. wide copper strike.

On Dotted Line

A check for $25,000 was put on the line in San Francisco yesterday as a down payment on $100,000 offer to buy that city's debt and trouble-ridden California Cable Street Car Company. The line, idle since July 31, may be offered to the highest bidder.

President Truman in Washington has signed into law the $1,600,000,000 defense housing bill which relaxes credit curbs on low and medium-priced housing and provides building incentives in defense production areas.

In Rong, authorities say murder charges will be filed against Mrs. Magdelene Teresa Hamlik, 37, a British war bride, in connection with the strangulation of four-year-old Roger Podger, for whose parents she was baby-sitting.

Calgary Man Became Editor In Prison Camp

CALGARY, Sept. 1 (CP) - Eric Humphries got his journalistic experience the hard way. Humphries, 31, took a public relations official with the Canadian National Railway, in London, England, started writing in a Japanese prison camp in Hava during the Second World War. He told the story while in Calgary.

C.N.R. offices across Canada.

He was a prisoner-of-war in Japanese camp at Batavia early in the war. The Japanese provided news bulletins of a sort for the prisoners, but they were written in such bad English that they were practically unintelligible. Humphries got the idea of editing and publishing the news himself from official releases. He convinced the Japanese authorities this was a good idea, and with the help of a fellow prisoner and a typewriter, borrowed from the Japanese, he put out a single-sheet weekly paper for nearly three years.

"We found out later that the 'news' we got from the Japs was highly colored propaganda," he said. "But at least it gave the boys an idea of where the fighting was going on."

MAYORESS RESIGNS

CLITHEROE, England (CP) - Mrs. Millicent Whitcup, 26-year-old mayoress of Clitheroe, has resigned halfway through her term of office to emigrate to South Africa with her husband. She says her husband is "fed up with controls, red tape and government regulations."

Lighter Atomic Shield Aim of U.K. Research

LONDON, Sept. 1 (NANA-Kemnews) - The perfection by British research metallurgists of a new type of atomic ray-resisting metal is likely to advance the production of atomic-powered engines for aircraft and sea-going vessels by at least 42 months. Officers at the air ministry and the admiralty had stressed to the minister of defense that atomic-powered engines could not be used in aircraft, submarines or warships until the weight of the protective shields around the power units could be greatly reduced.

Then, at Harwell, began the extensive research and experiment which led to the development of the metal. Although atomic technicians succeeded in reducing the size of the mechanism, the shield still accounted for a great deal of overweight and, 18 months ago, Harwell metallurgists were told to concentrate on producing a metal which was ray-resisting but also less than half the weight of the normal protective shield. Some months ago, Sir John Cockcroft, director of the Harwell atomic establishment, announced that "time when atomic energy power marine units would be used was not far off."

WOLF MENACE INCREASES

BELGRADE (Reuters) - Yugoslavia's wolf population has increased since the war. Wolves have killed 1,450 donkeys and mules, 1,850 horses, 4,800 head of cattle, 2,370 goats and 29,980 pigs in Bosnia and Herzegovina alone in the last year.

GUARDING HEALTH

The municipal engineer's role in guarding public health will be outlined by T. G. de Wolf, Vancouver city engineer, when he discusses "Sanitary and Storm Water Sewers."

Donglass, Vancouver, and Charles Jones of Richmond municipality water department.

At the annual banquet Sept. 20 in the Empress Hotel, W. H. M. Halldane, K.C., treasurer of the B.C. Law Society, will be guest speaker.

Puzzle Contests Banned in Burma

RANGOON, Sept. 1 (Reuters) - The Burmese government today banned all word-puzzle competitions as illegal, and made publication of them an offense punishable under the gambling act and the penal code.

Newspapers were given 15 days to wind up all competitions. Rangoon newspapers run daily "crossword" competitions, carrying prizes up to $5,200 a week. Newspapers are expected to appeal.

VENETIAN BLIND LAUNDRY OPENS

Here is wonderful news for all owners of Venetian Blinds whether residences, institutions or offices. Sun Ray Products have just installed a Venetian Blind Laundry that cleans blinds by an exclusive machine process. Slats, tapes and cords are cleaned thoroughly and completely by this new method in a few minutes.

The "JETMATIC" process uses a special rinse after the blinds are laundered, preventing water marks from showing on the slats after drying.

Officials state that there has been a constantly growing demand for this service in Victoria. Operating in conjunction with the laundry is a pick-up and complete repair department.

This service is a special boon to offices or institutions, since janitors cannot properly clean Venetian Blinds while hanging in the windows.

Gold Symbol of Office Urged for City Mayor

Mayor Percy E. George thinks he has offered to provide the holder of the title of Mayor of Victoria should have a gold chain of office to go with it. Mayor George pointed out that while the Lord Mayor of London wears a badge of office 90 years old, Victoria's mayor was without any distinctive symbol of office.

as he does not intend to run for mayor again, he is now in a position to make the suggestion.

Fall-Fashion: Red Vest, Rugged Irish Twist Suit

By BRIAN LOUGHNAN

Men, how do you look in a hat with a clasp in the crown? How does a cardinal-red Tattersall vest suit you? Do you prefer your jackets in brown or green suede, or perhaps you feel better in a brilliant plaid?

All these and Irish Twist, too, will be in high style this fall in men's fashions.

Irish Twist is a material, not a chewing tobacco, and Victoria tailors think it will be popular because its ruggedness makes customers feel they are getting longer wear for current higher prices.

NO MAJOR CHANGE

But, tailors say, unless a man feels really radical about clothing, there are no major changes to herald this fall's male styles.

The Tattersall vest is coming back into its own, in any color or shade you might want, and it will be one of the main features of sports wear this year. A bright red Tattersall worn with a rich brown all-suede jacket looks not only normal but mighty smart, the tailors agree.

JOSEPH'S COAT OUT

However, don't order a Joseph's coat in worsted. There are four colors in the material now, and manufacturers insist that adding one more colored thread would cost the industry millions of dollars.

Shoulders will be more nearly normal this year, according to the tailors, without the extreme pads that have been in vogue. But ties may be accented, pleated, if an American fashion succeeds in crossing the border.

SINGLE-BREADED

Suits will be mostly single-breasted, with three buttons, two to button and one free. Vests, except for the sporty Tattersall, are out.

On the upswing in the present trend are more bow ties, shirt collars that button down (but only with sports jackets, never with a business suit), and built-in belts that allow you to leave your braces at home. And green is the coming color.

SHOES ACCEPTED

Shoes that were once strictly sports wear are now being accepted as correct business wear and more and more moccasin toes and loafers are being parked atop desks.

thing new or tricky in the knotting of ties. The Windsor knot is here to stay, whether worn with plaid jackets or Homburg hats. Victoria is a hatless town, say the tailors, even more so than Vancouver. But getting back to that hat with the clasp in the crown—it's a Tyrostyle fall number that actually has a fold in the crown held by a clasp button. Even the description of its color is something to ponder—"wild-fowl mixture."

Dominion Gets Record Influx Of Immigrants

Canada is becoming a melting pot, according to figures on immigration survey made by The Financial Post recently.

North European immigrants nearly tripled their numbers in the first half of this year, compared with the first six months of 1950.

More British people are moving to Canada, the figures show, with numbers nearly doubling over last year.

Total of new residents, including 3,688 from the United States, was 79,785. In the first half of 1950 the figure was 37,286. British Columbia became the homeland of 5,997 of the new Canadians.

WORK STREET

BEHIND THE SIGNS WITH Jim Nesbitt

Work Street in the Hillside area, was named for John Work, one of the prominent names of early-day Victoria.

Originally the name was Work, but it became Work in Victoria and so it has remained through the years. John Work was born in Ireland and joined the Hudson's Bay Company in 1811. In 1812 he was at Fort Colvile in Washington territory, and ten years later took charge of Fort Simpson.

He rose steadily in the company's service to be a Chief Factor, and in the early 1830's came to Victoria to create another post. He gave his name to the "Hillside Farm" and each day walked into town to deal with clients.

Though Work was retired, he took an active interest in the affairs of the city and was elected a member of the Legislative Assembly. He gave his name to the "Hillside Farm" and each day walked into town to deal with clients.

John Work died in Victoria in December of 1861, when he was 70, a great age for that day. Mrs. Work too lived to an advanced age being 87 when she passed away in 1880 at "Hillside Farm."

Uncle Wiggily Story

BUSTER AND THE EAGLE

What Buster said in yesterday's story, after he heard the eagle scream, was some feathers on the ground under a big tree. Then, looking up, the Rabbit Scout saw something else.

Perched on a branch of the tree, about half way up from the ground, were three eagles. They were small eagles, but still not very large. The three small eagles looked at Buster along side their sharp, hooked beaks. They blinked their eyes but they did not fly down at the small rabbit.

Eagles and other birds talk among themselves, you know, just as animals do. And now Buster, listening, heard one small eagle ask:

"What is that funny-looking thing on the ground?"

"Maybe it's a fish," said another small eagle. "Daddy said he was going to bring us back some fish from Frog Pond."

"I don't believe this is a fish," said the third small eagle. "Daddy hasn't come back to the nest yet. I heard him scream a little while ago. So this funny thing can't be the fish he has brought us."

"No, I don't guess it is," said the first eagle.

"Indeed I am not a fish!" said Buster boldly. "I am a Rabbit Scout and I am waiting for your father. I want to see him."

"Well, Rabbit Scout," said the first eagle, "You are very brave to want to see my father, who is a big, fierce eagle."

"What do you want of my father?" asked the second eagle. "I want to shoot at him with my water pistol," said Buster. "I do not want to hurt him. I just want to make him all sticky with the molasses in my water pistol."

"Why do you want to do that?"

"When my back begins to ache."

"I use Dodd's Kidney Pills."

"DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS."

"BECAUSE I KNOW I CAN DEPEND ON Dodd's!"

Unit Prizes Presented At Smoker

Royal Canadian Artillery Association prizes were awarded to members of the Heavy Anti-Aircraft Regiment at the regimental smoker Friday evening at Albert Hotel.

Reviving a pre-war tradition, Lieut. Col. W. J. Farnsworth presented prizes to officers and N.C.O.'s who showed the most enthusiasm and made the best progress during the unit's two-year existence.

Capt. A. H. Cameron and Lieut. A. G. Kenward won prizes in the officers' course and Officer Cadets T. Smith and D. Chorlton in their class. Warrant Officer R. Fletcher and Sgt. M. Connor led senior N.C.O.'s and Bdrs. G. A. Melanson and T. Harkins, junior N.C.O.'s.

REGIMENTAL PRIZES

Regimental prizes went to Gns. R. Huston, H. Gillis and R. J. Browne.

The commanding officer observed that the whole technical training program had been conducted without active force help, an accomplishment seldom achieved by reserve force units with masses of heavy anti-aircraft equipment to handle.

Major Paul Bogelund, chief of regimental instruction, said the keenness and enthusiasm of the unit was bringing the regiment to the peak of efficiency.

Companies Mark Time On New Pension Scale

Company pension schemes will not be altered to dovetail with the government's old age pension plan—at least, not yet—according to a survey of many large Victoria companies made by The Colonist.

Arthur Laing, M.P. for Vancouver South, said recently that many companies are overhauling their pension schemes to give "a better break" to retired employees.

Mr. Laing was a member of the parliamentary committee which designed the new old age pension plan.

In a typical case, Mr. Laing claims, a company would pay the employee more money between the ages of 65 and 70, and less after he is getting the old age pension of $40 a month at 70 years.

In this way the retired employee would have a more balanced pension from the age of 65.

Most Victoria companies are taking a wait-and-see stand, in many cases based on what the government may decide. Although officials almost unanimously agree that the idea of balancing their pension schemes to fit the government plan will probably be put into effect in the near future.

Local Product May Be Bought By U.S. Military Installations

Large orders for the product of a Victoria inventor and manufacturer are expected soon from U.S. military installations.

J. A. Michaud, inventor of a plastic insulating window which fits inside the regular glass pane, says that following preliminary tests of the product, large orders are expected.

The windows were first used in army barracks at Red Bluff, Calif., where their function was to keep out dust and sand rather than protect from cold.

The California order was filled through a Portland contractor.

Dancing Instruction Seen as Aid To Development, Self-Confidence

Dancing develops children physically and gives them self-confidence, according to Eileen, member of the Dancing Masters of America, Inc., the largest national organization of dancing teachers in North America.

Dancing has its place in children's recreation programs as much as proper diet, she said. Children with infantile paralysis, unless the disease is far advanced, or those with similar handicaps should be taught dancing. The lessons develop children physically and help them overcome the feeling they cannot participate in games and sports with other children.

RETAIN BEAUTY

Even points out that most children have beautiful bodies and that if they are watched and trained carefully, they can easily retain their beauty and grace through all stages of development.

Eileen has studied physiology, hygiene and bone structure in order to help her instruct intelligently.

School of Expression Eases Way to Education

One of the most valuable assets of life is offered by Victoria School of Expression.

The private school offers scientific instruction in voice and speech use. The practical importance of such training for business, professional and social life is being more and more recognized as an important part of a liberal education.

The course also corrects poor speech often found among young people. In addition, it provides training for a personality, improved memory and concentration, easing the way to better education.

Victoria School of Expression offers elementary and advanced instruction in public speaking for high school students or adults. It also provides private treatment for any in important positions who suffer from throat strain.

Choral speaking classes are assembled and each year students of the school win a high percentage of honours.

Mrs. Wilfrid Ord, founder of the school, trained as a teacher and also attended the Central School of Dramatic Art, Royal Albert Hall, London. She was under the direction of the famous teacher Elsie Fogarty. Mrs. Ord is a Fellow of Trinity College, London (elocution), an Associate of Royal Toronto Conservatory of Music (special diploma), and a member of the Royal Society of Teachers, London.

Classes start October 3, when a limited number of students will be accepted. Interviews will be given by appointment only after Oct. 1.

The J. ROBERTO WOOD STUDIOS reopen September 5 at 617 Fort Street in Victoria. Mr. and Mrs. Wood have established a fine reputation since coming here from the east, as the foremost in VOICE, its expression and interpretation. Singing is the most natural expression of all, and the person with a vocal gift wants to share through performance, that urge to give of himself.

If you are interested in a choir we can place you whether it be church or the recreation of a choral group. Our pupils are making themselves felt in leading parts in singing organizations. This is a healthy state. Our work in the Musical Festivals has brought the singing and choral classes to a higher order.

Each student's individual needs are considered, and their studies planned accordingly. For detailed information phone B 6630.

Shell Fired With Ceremony Is 100,000th

WITH COMMONWEALTH TROOPS IN KOREA, Sept. 1 (Reuters). — A British artillery sergeant-major stood by a sleek 25-pounder in a Korean valley yesterday, proudly eyeing a shiny, white-painted shell.

Brig. Tom Brodie, commander of the 29th Brigade, gave the order: "All right—bung it in." The sergeant-major snapped into action and the brigadier pulled the firing lever.

There was a flash and a roar: The 44th Field Artillery Regiment had fired its 100,000th round in the Korean war.

The shell went shrieking to a carefully-selected target—a group of Communist soldiers settling down to lunch 8,000 yards away. Most of the group were killed.

Nail-Biting Finish Leaves McElroy Canadian Champ

ROYAL OTTAWA GOLF CLUB, Sept. 1 (CP) — Walt McElroy of Vancouver today staved off a tremendous last-ditch drive by veteran Phil Farley of Toronto to win the Canadian amateur golf championship with a 2 and 1 victory.

At one point in the 36-hole final, Farley was down eight holes in the 23-year-old Vancouver

WALT McELROY

Jeweler. His tremendous recovery left just short of topping McElroy.

Farley won four holes on the front nine this afternoon after starting the last 18 holes behind. On the back nine, he didn't surrender a hole. Four of them were halved.

McElroy, lacking the brilliance of his morning play, still had enough left to hang on and refused to crack under the terrific pressure.

Farley whittled away at Mc-

Elroy's lead and cut it to four at the 33rd hole.

The 33rd was halved and Farley sliced McElroy's lead to two at the 34th with a birdie three, getting down his nine-foot putt.

McElroy missed his putt from about the same distance.

Under the hottest pressure with his lead running out, McElroy coolly went for a par at the 35th yard 35th to make sure of winning. He put his second shot 30 feet from the pin.

Farley was 20 feet short. McElroy putted off confidently three inches short. Farley needed to sink the putt to keep the match alive. He also missed by about three inches.

The morning round was a McElroy walkaway. He grabbed off the first four holes before Farley could even get warmed up.

Farley managed to whittle McElroy's lead to two holes at the turn but McElroy shot into the lead again and Farley failed to win a single hole on the back nine.

Farley won only the fifth, seventh and ninth holes to McElroy's 11. Four holes were divided, three of them on the return nine.

Twice Farley lost holes on strokes. Once he knocked McElroy's ball into the run while trying to jump the stroke to give the Vancouver golfer an eagle two. Farley's ball also went in for a birdie three.

Alec Chisholm sank his tee shot on the 155-yard fifth hole at the Cedar Hill Golf Club yesterday. He used a No. 5 iron to score his third ace on the same hole.

Farley won only the fifth, seventh and ninth holes to McElroy's 11. Four holes were divided, three of them on the return nine.

Twice Farley lost holes on strokes. Once he knocked McElroy's ball into the run while trying to jump the stroke to give the Vancouver golfer an eagle two. Farley's ball also went in for a birdie three.

Alec Chisholm sank his tee shot on the 155-yard fifth hole at the Cedar Hill Golf Club yesterday. He used a No. 5 iron to score his third ace on the same hole.

McElroy, lacking the brilliance of his morning play, still had enough left to hang on and refused to crack under the terrific pressure.

Farley whittled away at Mc-

Elroy's lead and cut it to four at the 33rd hole.

The 33rd was halved and Farley sliced McElroy's lead to two at the 34th with a birdie three, getting down his nine-foot putt.

McElroy missed his putt from about the same distance.

Under the hottest pressure with his lead running out, McElroy coolly went for a par at the 35th yard 35th to make sure of winning. He put his second shot 30 feet from the pin.

Farley was 20 feet short. McElroy putted off confidently three inches short. Farley needed to sink the putt to keep the match alive. He also missed by about three inches.

The morning round was a McElroy walkaway. He grabbed off the first four holes before Farley could even get warmed up.

Farley managed to whittle McElroy's lead to two holes at the turn but McElroy shot into the lead again and Farley failed to win a single hole on the back nine.

Senators Open Final Series Here Tomorrow

DAVISON

Salem Senators come to Victoria tomorrow to oppose Victoria in the final series of the Western International League season. The clubs meet in an afternoon doubleheader starting at 1 p.m. tomorrow and play the final game Tuesday at 8.

The A's need at least two victories to prevent a seventh-place finish and will be seeking a sweep with the hope of regaining leadership of the second division.

Pitching choices for the A's tomorrow are Ben Lorino and John Tierney. They will likely be opposed by Bill Bevens, seeking his 21st victory, and Ray McNulty.

The Indians won the championship by taking two games from the A's yesterday while Salem Senators broke even with Vancouver Capilanos. It was John Marshall who stopped the A's in the afternoon, 8-1, and it was Jim Wert, a 1950 Victorian, who scored the winning run in the 4-3 contest under the lights.

Barrett Blanks Tigers.

At Yakima, Dick Barrett, recently-deposed as Victoria manager, pitched the Bears into fifth place by blanking Tacoma in a fine four-hit performance and then batted in the only run of the game in the ninth inning.

It was strictly no contest in yesterday's first game as Marshall, as good as he had to be, shackled his onetime mates with an effective pitching job. He lost his shutout in the third on Jim Clark's double and Gene Thompson's single, gave up only two sixth-inning hits the rest of the way.

Spokane scored three times in the third with Ken Richardson's two-run homer the big blow, and wound up with another trio in the ninth.

Best Game.

The mazda tilt was by far the best with Bill Osborn stubbornly protecting the three-run lead his teammates gave him in the second until the sixth and then losing it in the ninth.

Indians led the lead to one run in the fourth when Wert walked and later scored on Jim Brown's triple. Brown counted when Ben Jeffrey had trouble picking the ball up and then uncorked an aimless throw.

A neat, 60-out hunt by Brown played the tying run in the sixth and John Conant won his own game in the ninth by singling in Wert, who had led off with a single, moved up on a sacrifice by Brown, and held on as Bill Sheets skied out.

Two former members of Victoria Athletics helped give Spokane Indians the W.F.L. championship yesterday and a third player joined with the pair to shove the A's into sixth place, only a point ahead of Tacoma's seventh-place Tigers.

Think of the Saving on Gas Bills!

Uranium scientists believe that if experiments on uranium breeding prove successful middle-aged man of today may live to drive an atomic-powered auto like one sketched above. The disadvantage of the "atomic auto" is the enormous amount of shielding, weighing from 10 to 20 tons, necessary to protect the driver and passengers from the killing radiation. Wheels of the auto are arranged in tripod-fashion under the atomic pile. One ounce of uranium 235 would drive such a car for 10 years, say the theorists. (Central Press Canadian.)

Will Scrap Living Index In England

LONDON, Sept. 1 (CP)—Britain's outmoded cost-of-living index, based on working-class budget expenditures in 1937, will be scrapped as soon as a more accurate yardstick can be fashioned from income of a new survey.

Decision to launch a new family budget probe was announced by Minister of Economic Affairs, Sir Robert Gordon Latham, in a statement today. The index, which has been used for the past 14 years, is based on the cost-of-living index committee, under the chairmanship of Sir Robert Gordon Latham, the Minister of Economic Affairs.

The investigation will be undertaken shortly with some 15,000 families co-operating in supplying essential detail. They will be asked to provide particulars of money spent on food, clothing, rent, entertainment and so on, right through the normal family budget.

It will be about two years, however, before the canvass is completed and the results analyzed.

Appointed

Scottish-born associate deputy minister of national defense, Alexander Ross, above, has been appointed by federal government to represent Canada on the budget committee of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. Appointment marks the fourth time that Mr. Ross, chief accountant for the Canadian Farm Loan Board before the Second World War, has been chosen to represent Canada on important financial assignments in Europe. Mr. Ross came to Canada from Scotland in 1913 and settled in Winnipeg. (Central Press Canadian.)

Alberta Oil News

Total Take Well Past $100,000,000 With $2,397,149 Crown Land Bonus

The Alberta government's oil proceeds are bright for an important first 11 months in one hour. The province's oil revenue for the first 11 months of 1951 has reached $100,000,000, with a total take of $2,397,149 in crown land bonus.

The Leduc discovery in February 1947 is now well over the $100,000,000 mark.

Hundreds of thousands of acres of crown reserve land have been set aside and remain to be developed and in many of a large area yet to be reserved. Thus with much proved and some potential land yet to be sold and royalty revenue to the province on the reserve, the coffers of Alberta are due for a much greater expansion.

During the first eight months of this year the Alberta government made $1,260,000 from crown reserve sales. Largest slice of Thursday's bonus came from the Wapiti Lake area, where two sections of oil and gas leases in the vicinity of an oil discovery brought in $1,260,000. The Drumsburg to Wapiti section, a 12 Devonian oil discovery was recently made, brought in $1,260,000. The Leduc discovery, which is still under development, accounted for $401,000. A lease in the area of the Joseph Lake-Viking section, which is still under development, brought in $1,260,000. The Leduc discovery, which is still under development, accounted for $401,000. A lease in the area of the Joseph Lake-Viking section, which is still under development, brought in $1,260,000.

The first five months of this year have accounted for $7,121,523 from the sale of crown reserve land and petroleum rights. The province's oil revenue for the first 11 months of 1951 has reached $100,000,000, with a total take of $2,397,149 in crown land bonus.

Of the province's cumulative total revenue from oil sales of $7,121,523, the province has accounted for $3,700,000 from sale of lands. Other than that have yielded more than $1,000,000 in bonuses at that date are: Woodhead, $2,626,265; Leduc and South Leduc, $1,620,752; and Golden Spike, $1,736,037. Stettler field and Wapiti Lake area have sold lands for a total in excess of $500,000 each, a little more than Big Valley and Drumsburg.

Market Observers Differ On Week's Sharp Upsurge

By DICK BAIDEN, Canadian Press Staff Writer. Did last week's sharp upsurge at Toronto, Montreal and New York stock markets herald a new long bull market, or was it a warning of coming weakness? Unobserved in three centres divided on this question as market prices soared to record highs.

In Toronto the exchanges in a dex of 20 selected issues made its record five times in as many days as it climbed 771 points. The index now stands at 10,000, the highest since it was established in 1947. The weekly gain was the greatest since the week of May 25 to June 1.

Montreal shared the advance as the industrial average rose new ground several times during the week.

Transport Head

One of the country's foremost grain authorities, Roy Wilfred Munier, above, has been appointed first peace-time transport controller in Canada's history. His appointment, announced by federal Transport Minister Ignace Caouette, indicated that Canadian government has decided to use direct action to force diversion of more Great Lakes shipping from iron ore and coal to grain.

The 50-year-old shipping czar from Hamilton, Ont., will have power to break contracts and redirect bulk-carrying traffic on waterways and rail lines of Canada.

Mr. Munier was formerly president of Winnipeg Grain Exchange. (Central Press Canadian.)

Copper Strike Seen to Have Lasting Effect

NEW YORK, Sept. 1 (P. A.)—All eyes are on the workers' protest to early resumption of full copper output, as the loss of production since last Monday was expected to keep the metals market unsettled for weeks.

The strike so far is estimated to have slashed copper output by at least 2,000 tons a day.

In addition, the strike by the International Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers' Union tied up almost half the domestic production of defense-vital tungsten.

General Cable Corp. closed down its plant at Perth, Amboy and Rayonite, N.J., for lack of copper.

President Truman last week created a new defense materials procurement agency, with authority to buy metals and other materials for defense, either in this country or abroad, and make subsidy payments if necessary to maintain essential production.

Profits Up

TORONTO, Aug. 31 (CP)—Sherritt Gordon Mines Ltd. had net profit of $386,632 in the second quarter ending June 30, compared with $386,325 in the same period last year. Not profit for the half year was $760,363, compared with $501,292.

Wood to Direct Airline Traffic

The appointment of W. Gordon Wood, Ottawa, as vice-president in charge of traffic for Trans-Canada Airlines has been announced in Montreal by G. R. McGee, company president.

In this position Mr. Wood will be responsible for the development of the company's passenger, cargo and mail services and for administration of traffic activities.

He succeeds Anson C. McKim.

Miners Cheer End of 52-Day Strike

Streets of Timmins, Ont., resembled V.E. day celebrations as 7,000 happy miners and their families let off steam after receiving news that 52-day strike at Hollinger gold mines was over. Agreement came after four days of sessions between company and union officials, aided by Louis Fine, Ontario's chief conciliation officer. Speculation on settlement terms, not as yet publicized, was rampant in Timmins. (Central Press Canadian.)

Britain Plans Food Auctions To Cut Costs

BISHOP AUCKLAND, Durham, England, Sept. 1.—The government is going to set up state-sponsored food auctions in an effort to cut the price of fruit and vegetables by bringing out middlemen, handling, Cabinet Minister Hugh Dalton said today.

"Our intention is to set up a number of markets in important provincial centres for the auctioning of fruit and vegetables, sent in by growers," Dalton said in a speech here.

There is no doubt that the present arrangements are uneconomical and inefficient and that this produces passes through too many hands after leaving the grower and before reaching the housewife.

Dalton said the government sponsors food auctions are an experiment. The plan is to have at least 100 auctions set up in the next few months and that the housewife will get better and fresher supplies at lower cost.

Sulphur Discovery May Solve Shortage

NEW YORK, Sept. 1 (N.A.S.A.)—The current world shortage of sulphur appears about to be solved by the opening up of a new deposit of huge deposits near Los Angeles, Calif.

A dispatch from Santiago, Chile, to Foreign Trade, an official Ottawa publication, reported that British interests have received the mining concession and already have found some 100,000,000 metric tons of sulphur ore.

Production will begin soon, and may reach several million tons a year, if the deposit warrants it.

Chile and Texas supply 85 percent of the world's sulphur consumed yearly throughout the world. The location of the Los Angeles deposits comes hard on the heels of another huge discovery on the banks of the Mississippi in Louisiana.

ANOTHER INDUSTRY. In addition to relieving the world shortage of this important chemical ingredient, the working of the huge Chilean sulphur deposits will bring one more mining industry to the mountainous South American country, supplementing the copper, iron, coal and nitrate mines as the main sources of wealth. It also marks the return of large-scale British enterprise to South America, where British investments dominated the economy before 1939 when they were partly liquidated during the Second World War, to run a neck-and-neck race with the growing U.S. investments during the recent years.

Up to now, sulphur has been mined in Chile by small local

The Art of Felling Trees

ONE OF THE MOST IMPORTANT skills in the sportsman's workshop is the art of felling trees. It is a skill that is often overlooked, but it is one that is essential for the sportsman who wishes to hunt or fish in the woods.

The first step in felling a tree is to choose the right spot. The tree should be felled from the side, and the cut should be made at a point where the tree is not too thick. The cut should be made at a point where the tree is not too thick.

Fall Lawns Are the Best Lawns

By THE MASTER GARDENER

IN EARLY September when the days become shorter the nights longer and the frequent fall rains start, the best time to lay down a new lawn is here. The weather is ideal for quick germination and sturdy development of grass. Late summer and early fall lawns will have a luxurious top growth and deep sturdy root growth by the time winter comes. Maybe you have just moved into a new home and must make a new lawn, or you have an established lawn that has gone through a hard summer with no matter

SIMPLE STEPS

1. Spade Deeply—Turn over the soil to a depth of 12 inches. This will break up the old lawn and bring up the subsoil. It will also help to kill any weeds that may be in the soil.

2. Apply Complete Plant Food—This will give the grass a good start. It will also help to keep the grass green and healthy.

3. Work Plant Food Into Soil—This will help the grass to get the most out of the food.

SEED WITH GOOD GRASS SEED

1. Seed With Good Grass Seed—This will give the grass a good start. It will also help to keep the grass green and healthy.

2. Water Often—This will help the grass to get the most out of the food.

Start Next Year's Garden Now

It is not too early to start preparing for next year's garden. With the continuing high cost of food and the increasing scarcity of many of the vegetables that we need, it is well to start now. The best time to start is now, as the weather is ideal for quick germination and sturdy development of grass.

The Tragedy of the Andree Balloonists

By DON CAIN

THE story of Professor Andree's famous balloon voyage, which was linked up with Victoria's history in 1897, was Queen Victoria's Jubilee Year. Celebrations were over and the Daily Colonist news spotlight had turned to the discovery of gold in the Klondike. Sarah Bernhardt was endorsing celery extract as a nerve restorer and the Poodle Dog was advertising a prodigious bill of fare at "Mc a Poodle."

In Spitzbergen, Norway, Andree, the Swedish balloonist, was preparing to make an ascent in his balloon, the Eagle. With two companions he was planning to drift over the North Pole, making observations as he went. Then they were to land and live on the ice until they could make their way back. He had been ready for a year but wind and weather had retarded the departure. Finally on July 11, Andree decided that the wind was favorable and the Eagle began its journey.

HEAD OF THE JOURNEY

On July 18 the Colonist published a letter from W. S. Fitzgerald in which he said that he had seen the balloon at River's Inlet. He and his partner had been drifting for salmon when they saw what appeared to be a fire over a lofty mountain peak. "It couldn't be a fire, we knew, nor a star nor yet the moon, and all at once the thought burst upon us that it was a balloon, and none other than Andree's, we thought, would be flying in these regions." But Fitzgerald and his partner had jumped the gun. Their "balloon" was seen on July 10, a full day before Andree had left Spitzbergen.

But they were not the only ones who had seen something flying through the sky. In an editorial on July 20 the Colonist discussed the sighting of a balloon shaped like a two men in the employ of the Electric Light Company. "They are men of good repute and there is not the slightest reason to suppose that they did not tell the truth. On July 12 the inmates of the Old Men's Home at Kamloops saw a fire at night. It was within sight for more than two hours and disappeared in a comparatively short time. It moved with a fluttering motion and gave out streaks of light.

STRANGE REPORTS

By August 11 the sightings had become a local news item. A local agent at Kamloops had heard of the sightings and had written to the Daily Colonist. He had been told that the balloon had passed over Kamloops on July 11 and had been seen near Kamloops on July 11 and had been seen at the headwaters of the Kamloops on the same afternoon. Obviously one balloon could not be seen in so many places at the same time. If it was Andree's, what was it doing? That question has never been answered.

ANOTHER MYSTERY

On August 11 the sightings were in the Colonist news item. About 1000 of Vancouver citizens tonight viewed with the greatest interest and curiosity a mysterious light in the sky. It was a light which had been seen in many parts of British Columbia during the past month. The news item "At 9 o'clock it was traveling with tremendous rapidity in the same direction as the earth, and at a speed which would circle the globe in 24 hours. It is low down in the horizon just skimming the mountain tops in the southern sky. It is traveling with a soft pulsing and fading motion. It is extremely irregular in the center and surrounded by a luminous vaporous mist." The Vancouver paper reported that it might not be Andree's balloon. "Assuming it might be, it would appear to belong to the balloon which was reported to have been seen on July 10, a full day before Andree had left Spitzbergen."

LINE A STAR

This was not the only sighting of the strange phenomenon in Vancouver. On July 10, a full day before Andree had left Spitzbergen, a very bright star, some 100 miles away, was seen by a luminous halo, "clearly shaped" according to his report.

The day before the Vancouver sighting there had been one at Kamloops. There a luminous ball of fire had hovered for 15 minutes while such well-known citizens as Mayor Cooper, J. W. Alderman, Fraser and Inspector Barr had been in it. As this the Andree balloon. It didn't sound like it, but there were those who thought so.

ADD TO CONFUSION

Meanwhile reports were coming from Vancouver, Alaska and British Columbia of Andree's balloon sightings. They were all in the same line but there was a possibility that some of them might be the same balloon.

LAST MESSAGE

On July 11 a Vancouver Starling ship was seen at night. A local agent at Kamloops had heard of the sightings and had written to the Daily Colonist. He had been told that the balloon had passed over Kamloops on July 11 and had been seen near Kamloops on July 11 and had been seen at the headwaters of the Kamloops on the same afternoon. Obviously one balloon could not be seen in so many places at the same time. If it was Andree's, what was it doing? That question has never been answered.

BOYS FOUND

Two message boys were found in the forest. One was found in the forest and the other was found in the forest. They were found in the forest and the other was found in the forest.

After the last sighting of the balloon, the Andree expedition was a mystery.

Couple Would Like Children's Choir

Planner for Royal Visit Cautions Against Dull Reception, Aldermen

Fewer dull receptions and fewer aldermen were recommended as ideas to make the forthcoming Royal tour a success.

This was the reaction of a floating visitor to the city, who is one of a handful of men making top level decisions about the tour.

On the last Royal tour, that of the King and Queen in 1950, he was advance public relations agent.

"I have suggested to your committee in Victoria, he said, that the fewer official receptions the better. The Royal couple will look for simplicity above all else."

ENJOY SINGING

"The things they will enjoy will be hearing perhaps a massed choir of all the school children, or anything that is typically Canadian or Vancouver Island."

He said that during the tour of their Majesties, an event they spoke of again and again was a program by a huge massed choir of school children in Saskatoon. The King enjoyed it so much, he asked to have the entire performance repeated.

The railway officials said he based a performance of "Ten Quaws," the Indian opera, would be an outstandingly good idea.

"This will see plenty of Indians in Capetown," he said, "but I am afraid the Capetown Indians are a pretty sophisticated group and their effect is negative. The Tenquaw opera sounds simple but so effective that I am sure it would thrill them."

He repeated that the Royal couple would want to see the people, not the officials.

NEWSMEN

"There is another angle to it," he continued. "Remember that for five days Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip are on the Island there will be approximately 100 newsmen from all over Canada, the U.S. and Britain here too."

"You people on the Island want to give these correspondents something different to write about other than the usual round of events. It could bring some wonderful publicity of the right kind to Victoria and the Island."

He suggested Vancouver and Victoria could compare schedules so that events would not be repeated.

Vancouver is going to show them lacrosse. Excellent idea, he said, but so typically Canadian they can see all the hockey they want in England."

Several pieces of property in Saanich will be offered in a tax sale Tuesday morning at Saanich Municipal Hall tax collector Stanley Green said yesterday.

Sale will be held at 10 a.m.

Saanich Fair Horse Show

The annual North and South Saanich Fall Fair held each year on Labor Day week-end promises to be as good as ever. There will be a great number of exhibits and events to hold the interest of the hundreds who are expected to attend. Highlight on Monday will be the Horse Show to be held during the afternoon.

Sponsored by the Fall Fair Association with the assistance of the Garden City Horsemen's Club the show will be held on the fair grounds, commencing at 1:30 p.m.

Many of Victoria's well known riders have entered in the various events and entries have also come from Up-Island and Vancouver.

Friendship, Informality Mark Official Luncheon

Cordial friendship and informality featured the provincial city luncheon tendered to Rt. Hon. Sir Denys Lawson, Lord Mayor of London, accompanied by the two King's Sheriffs and Swordbearer at the Empress Hotel yesterday, with Mayor Percy George presiding.

Mayor George presented a handsomely engraved replica of the City of Victoria's seal to Sir Denys, and received in reply an illuminated address from the Court of Common Council of the City of London.

After a brief and felicitous welcome by Mayor George, in which he expressed the sincere pleasure of Victoria and its citizens at the present visit, Sir Denys replied by sketching out the duties of the Lord Mayor of London, the role of the Common Council—a body with 230 members which stretches back in history to 1187 and in expressing warm thanks for the cordiality which had greeted the distinguished party ever since its arrival in British Columbia after Australian and New Zealand tours.

WORDS OF ADDRESS

The address, under the seal of the City of London, with its motto "Domine dirige nos," was as follows:

"Resolved unanimously that the members of the Court of Common Council of the City of London, on the occasion of the visit to the City of Victoria of the Rt. Hon. the Lord Mayor of London, Alderman Sir Denys Colquhoun Flowerdew Lawson, Baronet, M.A., L.C.C., and the Sheriffs of London, Lieut. Col. and Alderman George James Cullum Welch, O.B.E., M.C., desire to convey on their own behalf and that of the Citizens of London, sincere greetings and good will to the Mayor, Aldermen and Citizens of Victoria.

"The Citizens of London

PRESENTED WITH CREST

Mayor George presented the Lord Mayor with a medallion, a facsimile of the city crest, engraved in silver and reading, "Corporation of the City of Victoria, Incorporated 1862."

On the reverse side was the inscription, "Presented to the Right Honourable Sir Denys Lawson, Bart., M.A., on the occasion of his visit to the capital city of British Columbia, September 1, 1951."

Invited guests at the function, which was held in the Princess Charlotte Room of the Empress Hotel, were:

The Lord Mayor, Alderman and Sheriff Welch; Sheriff Lowry; Swordbearer and First Esquire William T. Boston; Mayor George and members of the city council; C. C. Wyatt, city manager; Frank M. Hunter, city clerk; W. T. MacDonald-Miller, executive secretary to the mayor; Mrs. M. E. Gordon, chairman of the Greater Victoria Library Board; H. Culbertson, chairman of the town planning commission; J. Carl Penzance, arena commission chairman; Walter Leung, acting chairman of Greater Victoria board of school trustees; Capt. R. A. Pennington, deputy provincial secretary, representing the provincial government; Stuart Keate, publisher of The Victoria Daily Times; and Sandham Graves, editor of The Daily Colonist.

Culbertson on Bridge

(Copyright, 1951, by E. J. Culbertson)

A correspondent asks for the proper bidding and for an appropriate comment on his partner's bid in the following deal. South, dealer. Neither side vulnerable.

NORTH		EAST
AK4		QJ10 82
AJ65		1032
3		AK5
AQ876		5
WEST		SOUTH
765		KQ574
Q10987		AK12
J9432		K10

In the actual game South opened with one heart and West decided that the time and attention were ripe for a psychic double. With North's holding what it was, this should have been a very feeble effort on West's part, but perhaps West "knew" his left-hand adversary. At any rate, North chose the remarkable and extremely inept countermeasure of jumping to three clubs—and everybody passed. South, according to his own letter of explanation, felt that North could not have more than a couple of honor-tricks, and that he was probably trying a mild, bluffing maneuver of his own, and having a part-score of 60 South passed. Thus, an iron-clad grand slam at either hearts or no-trump was missed.

It does not pay for a player to get fancy when he holds a rock-crusher opposite an opening bid. There was one and only one logical course available to North on the first round, and that was to redouble—no other call could conceivably cover the situation. Over this redouble, East might well try shutout tactics on his own hook, but even if he jumped to three spades, South would have the values for a four-heart bid. Then a Blackwood four no-trump by North would bring the announcement of one ace from South, and the further Blackwood bid of five no-trump would leave South's three kings. With this information in hand, and with the assurance that South could not have made the four-heart call on less than a six-card suit, North could actually count 13 rock-crusher tricks, and thus, to guard against any possibility of an adverse ruff, he should leap straight to the guaranteed contract of seven no-trump.

Horse Show, Dancing Open Saanich Fair

Western Canada's oldest agricultural fair opened with a flurry of hooves and hot dogs in Saanich yesterday.

Under a bright sun and cloudless sky, the North and South Saanich Agricultural Society's 33rd annual fall exhibition opened with an afternoon horse show and pet show followed by an exhibition of dancing by the Victoria Pro-Roc square-dancing group.

BOWMAN TO OFFICIATE

Although tomorrow will be the big day for the fair, with the official opening at 1 p.m. by Agricultural Minister H. R. Bowman, the society's grounds were well filled with spectators and exhibitors yesterday. Most industrial exhibits were set up, hot-dog stands were flourishing and rides for the children going full swing.

Following the official opening tomorrow livestock judging will start as will the 12 events for saddle horses including a demonstration of riding skill. There will also be Highland dancing contests and athletic events for children.

No Decision Yet on Bid For Milk Price Increase

No decision has been made yet on the submission of Vancouver Island dairy men for an increase in the producers' price.

This was stated yesterday by E. J. Carr, Vancouver, milk board chairman.

Island dairy men, while they have not actually threatened to quit the business, have stated that unless a price increase or some other relief is offered, it will not be worthwhile for them to carry on through the winter.

Victoria milk producers yesterday watched with interest progress of a milk strike in Trail where producers have decided to

HEADACHES FROM HATE

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—Headaches due to hate are described by Dr. J. Bostock in the Medical Journal of Australia. Repressed hate leads to a war in the mind, between the desirable and obtainable. There is underlying frustration and no easy way out. Psychotherapy often solves the headache problem.

Hip-Hip-Hooray

One day I am going to kick over the traces. 'Cause I can't work in the garden while showing my braces. "You look just a little bit better," that from I am dealt, "be a good boy, go put on a belt." Our daughters, some partly in mirth, had to stick in their 2 dollars worth. "And that shirt you wear is a total loss, it always make Mummy, good & cross. I stood very close to their 3 faces. "And just WHAT is wrong with wearing braces?" "Well, they look just terrible, that's what they do, yuck-yuck." "I went this hula-hula." "O.K., O.K." as they continued to scoff, "I'll go upstairs & take them off." Half way up.

I threw in MY chips, "It's all very well, for you dames who have hips, if I don't wear braces, (& I looked very hairy, all I do, is stuff in my shirt. Every move I make, my britches slip lower, whether whamming a nail or pushing the mower. "Well, I tell you Dad," Trudie did shout, "put your braces under, let your shirt hang out." "NO," said the other, "not THAT," please, the tail would hang, right down to his knees." All was cut by the ring of the phone, "Run along girls, leave your Daddy alone." I found the belt in the topmost drawer, after pitching stuff all over the floor. Into the slots it wouldn't slide, the fool thing made, much too wide. Madder I got with this silly bout. It had a snake buckle, like a Boy Scout. I felt right away I couldn't stick it, as if I was going out to play cricket. I took off the shirt, like a legger wears, put on the white, & descended the stairs. "Hello girls," rawthor fetching, "what?" each one stayed glued to her spot. I went out in the garden & soon was engaged, digging a hole, for a new fence-post. I got shovelling away at a merry clip, my hips got flatter & my pants got the skin, just as I knew the fool things would—I nipped a moment & rigidly stood—I pulled in my tummy, contracting my skin tuck & go if they'd fall on each shin. I let the air out, again they did grip, on the pound of flesh I have on each hip. A white towel on the broom, "THE FOG SURRENDERS," & then I was handed my lovely suspenders. Out the "top window" she flung my shirt. I made the quick change, went back flinging dirt. No more, they have professed will they beef or grouse at this handy man... AROUND THE HOUSE.

Uniforms for Women Reservists Expected Before Month's End

MILITARY AFFAIRS

Uniforms for women in the reserve No. 8 Anti-Aircraft Operations Room are expected some time this month, Major R. V. Parrett, commanding officer, said yesterday.

Training of women for work in the highly technical unit has been going ahead steadily during the summer, but they have not yet been officially taken on strength of the army.

Of the 45 women on roll call, about 25 regularly attend the Tuesday night parades. From the armory they usually go for technical training to the unit's new observation post with the men of the unit.

LANGFORD TRAINEE

Among the women training for specialists' jobs in the unit is Miss M. E. Mumford of Langford. She is a former C.W.A.C. corporal who served nearly five years in the last war.

Miss Mumford, who operates a grocery store, says: "I would like to get back in the army again."

She served in England and Italy in the administration branch of the army during the war.

"I was in the victory parade in London and the King spoke to me," she said with pride.

She finds the operation room work interesting but hard to understand.

"We are getting used to it, though," she said.
